Sacred Heart of Jesus School embraces the Year of Faith

When Pope Benedict XVI declared the Year of Faith to run from October 11, 2012, through November 24, 2013, Sacred Heart of Jesus School embraced the concept to renew and strengthen the students and faculty in their practice of faith. School administration turned to the words of Bishop Ricken, Chair of the U.S. Bishops Committee on Evangelization and Catechesis, to guide them as they attempted to bring the Year of Faith to life: the “purpose of the Year of Faith is to renew and strengthen Catholics in their practice of faith so that they may inspire the world with their example. This is the new Evangelization.”

To renew and strengthen Catholics in their practice of faith, SHS embraced the unique history of Sacred Heart of Jesus Parish, which includes a wealth of religious art, sculptures, carvings and architectural elements. All students in pre-kindergarten through eighth grade enjoyed tours of Sacred Heart Church. The tours were reinforced by various projects in art and computer classes.

“The students were all inspired by the beauty of the church,” said SHS art teacher Dorothy Calandro. While all grade levels have produced various types of art based on the church’s art and architecture, the fifth through seventh grade students are currently capturing the church art and architecture through photography.

“There are a lot of things in the church that I’d see a million times, but never thought of what they mean,” said seventh-grader Claudia Pickell. “Everything in there (the church), even the smallest thing, has a meaning.”

Through the church tours, students and faculty connected the art and symbolism in the church to an enhanced sense of worship during the weekly Liturgy celebration. The church tours were so successful that plans are underway for a Spring event, “The Sacred Vessels,” according to SHS religion coordinator Marylyn Dietz. “Through ‘The Sacred Vessels’ students and faculty will hear the unique history of some of Sacred Heart’s treasures and understand the purpose of each,” said Dietz.

Students will also examine the art, history and symbolism of the paschal candle. Sacred Heart parishioner and archivist Mary Lee Eggart, Jr., creates one-of-a-kind paschal candles each year that are designed to reflect the symbolism in the church.

To inspire the world with their example, SHS had only to turn to the Sisters of St. Joseph, who have blessed the school with their presence since its founding in 1929. SHS initiated a program reflecting the vision of Fr. Jean Pierre Medaille in 1650, founder of the Sisters, “to serve our neighbors with the same loving concern St. Joseph had shown in caring for Jesus and Mary.”

2 DEVELOPMENT CORNER

I am thrilled to be part of the Sacred Heart family this year! I am overwhelmed by the kindness and generosity I witness on a daily basis from everyone I encounter. SHS is truly a blessing to the community!

As Development Director, I am charged with raising funds for the school. We launched our 20th Annual Giving Campaign in the Fall and followed it with a reminder letter in February. The outpouring of support has been wonderful! Thank you so much to all who have contributed. As of February 20, we have received $32,621 in donations and pledges. We are still striving to meet our goal by June 30th, when the campaign ends. This year we also instituted a Faculty First Campaign and I am proud to say that 100 percent of our faculty and staff contributed. This is a clear message that we believe in ourselves and our mission at SHS.

In addition to the AGC, there are other ways you can help SHS earn much needed funds! Do you shop at Albertsons? If so, please contact me for a card that can be swiped each time you shop. Albertsons makes a SHS donation each time our card is used. Target has a credit card that allows you to name a group to receive donations based on your purchases. If you have a Target Red Card already, you can go online to register Sacred Heart School as your charity. If you are interested in getting one you can specify SHS when you apply. We also generate revenue from Box Tops for Education, Campbell Soup and Community Coffee labels. Simply cut these out and send them to us!

I certainly appreciate the giving nature of the Sacred Heart community. I ask that you please continue to remember us in your prayers as we do you. If you have any questions about Development please don't hesitate to contact me at mschroeder@sacredheartbr.com.

SHS Facebook Page a Success

Sacred Heart's first step into the world of social media has been a big success, with a Facebook page that is receiving rave reviews from the SHS family.

"I love our Sacred Heart Facebook page," said SHS mom Catharine McKay. "Not only do I get to see the day-to-day activities of students, but I also feel like it is a great way to show the community how Sacred Heart is an amazing school!"

Alum Davis Hotard '85 agrees. "As an alum, I love being able to keep up with what's happening in the lives of people who have graduated from Sacred Heart, as well as being able to see the wonderful things that today's students are accomplishing there," he said. "I know they will go on to do wonderful things in the future."

Parent permission must be received by the school to include any student information. The page can be accessed through the link at the top of the SHS website homepage (www.sacredheartbr.com).

SHS's "Dear Neighbor" Program now serves as an umbrella for the school's philanthropic efforts and is based on the concept that neighbors include those physically in our neighborhood as well as those who are neighbors in a broader sense. Food items are collected weekly for the Sacred Heart of Jesus-St. Vincent dePaul Food Pantry and are distributed to those in need who live within the parish boundaries. Each October, the P.E. Department organizes the "Dear Neighbor" Walk for Diabetes, with collections going to the local chapter of JDRF to assist with research for Type 1 diabetes.

Another of the many projects operating under the "Dear Neighbor" umbrella was held in November, the "Dear Neighbor" Veteran's Day project. Items were collected for Raven Outreach Center for Homeless Veterans, which is located a few blocks from the school.

8th Grade Fall Retreat

SHS Generation Celebration

Sacred Heart School also inspires by its academic legacy and its long history and presence in the Diocese. In October the school held a Generation Celebration to recognize 32 current students who are second, third or fourth generation SHS Tigers.

"I thought it was amazing that some of our current students have great-grandparents who graduated from SHS back in the 30s and 40s," said Development Director Michelle Schroeder. "That really says something about a school!"

First-grader Caroline Campbell is one of the school's fourth generation students. Her mother, Kecia Kling Campbell, class of 1991, said "It gives me an overwhelming sense of pride and gratitude to know that four generations of my family have walked through the doors of Sacred Heart, and I was one of them."

"We are proud to adopt and truly live the Year of Faith at Sacred Heart School," said Principal Joan Hutson. "We don't expect it to end in November 2013, as we will continue to embrace the concept and the many gifts of our school and church to move forward."

"It gives me an overwhelming sense of pride and gratitude to know that four generations of my family have walked through the doors of Sacred Heart."

A Note from the Principal . . .

Joanie Hutson

Sacred Heart of Jesus School owes its solid standing in the community and its stellar program of studies to the many men and women, religious and lay, who have served the school's mission over the 70 plus years of the school's existence. One such noted member of the Sacred Heart family is Chetta Cangelosi, the school's first lay teacher who recently passed away at age 104. Although I did not have the pleasure of knowing Miss Chetta, I feel a collegiality with her as we who serve SHS today continue the traditions and programs advanced by those educators who have gone before us.

I am in my second year as principal at SHS and have discovered much about the school and its families. Although I have always heard positive and noteworthy praise about the school, experiencing the day-to-day life here affirms those accolades.

Paramount is our spirituality; teaching devotion to our faith is not accomplished by merely providing religion classes, attending mass or teaching prayers. Parents, as the primary educators of their children, introduce faith and devotion in the home; the SHS staff nurtures what has taken root in the home and promotes each student's personal relationship with Jesus. Being prayerful and mindful of our faith journey is an integral part of the entire day.

If you are familiar with Sacred Heart, you know that tradition runs deep. Activities such as The Living Rosary, the third grade Christmas Play, Grandparents' Day, and The Living Way of the Cross continue to focus our attention on being a caring, prayerful school family. Our students serve others in numerous ways, including donating weekly to the food pantry, raising funds for groups such as St. Jude Hospital and the Juvenile Arthritis Foundation, and by their commitment to recycling. Faculty and staff continue to demonstrate a deep commitment to academic excellence through ongoing professional development in the areas of Curricular Rigor and Relevance and the new Common Core State Standards. Sacred Heart is a Southern Association of Colleges and Schools Accredited school.

I would be remiss if I did not thank our parent organizations and parish ministries for the instrumental role they play in supporting the school. Organizations such as the Men's Club, the Home & School Association, and the many parish committee volunteers, raise funds, sponsor activities, and serve in parent leadership roles, all of which support the mission of the school. Sacred Heart is steeped in Catholic tradition and dedicated to educating the mind, body, and spirit of our diverse student community.

A Note from the Asst. Principal . . .

Jennifer Nola

Ever since I was a little girl, I wanted to be a teacher. I always loved school, books, and learning. Fortunately, I am one of those blessed people who loves her job. I came to Sacred Heart last year after teaching English in public and Catholic Schools. I also served Our Lady of Mercy Parish as Director of Religious Education.

One of the most exciting parts of being at Sacred Heart School is that it is very close to my family's heart. In 2000, I married Paul Nola; we have two children, Nicholas and Luke. My mother-in-law, Mary Blasco Nola, and her sisters came to school here. They are the nieces of Fr. Dominic Blasco, the first pastor of Sacred Heart Parish. It's been fascinating to see the family heirlooms and church memorabilia from that time period and to know that Sacred Heart has a special place in my family.

Although I think my family's connection to Sacred Heart is really special, I know many families feel the same way. This year, we held a Generation Celebration. Many of our current students, their parents and grandparents attended SHS. For two students, even their great-grandparents attended school here! We held an assembly in the gym for our multi-generation students and their families. This year during Catholic Schools week, we honored several teachers who had milestone years of service. One of our teachers has 30 years of service to the Catholic Schools here in Baton Rouge. I plan on being counted in that number some day, and truly feel blessed to be among such a rich tradition of Catholic education at here at Sacred Heart.
