PRINCIPAL'S POST

By...Cecilia Methvin

Once again, we have our eyes on the Gulf for Hurricane Zeta, but I don't think it has dampened our Halloween spirit one bit! We are excited to have a little bit of 'normal' this week. On Thursday, we will pray our rosary to close out October, the month of the rosary. The 7th grade class will lead us in prayer in the church, which will be videoed and then shown in all classrooms. On Friday, we will have pizza and Halloween parties in each class, trick or treating with 8th graders, a door decorating contest, and an 8th grade costume contest. Make sure your child brings a bag for trick or treating. It is so fun to see the students and teachers excited and enjoying this festive time!

When we return next week, we will turn our attention to preparations for Grandparent's Day. Although we won't have guests on campus on November 20th, our performances will be recorded for all to view. We will send more information about Grandparent's Day in the coming weeks.

As I mentioned at the Home and School meeting on October 14th, we are slowly making changes to some procedures on campus while maintaining compliance with all safety guidelines. Now that all students are face to face on campus and have been since October 12th, we are going to allow middle school students to use their lockers and change classrooms during the day. The students in 3rd-5th grade will also begin moving. Extra time will be taken for desks to be wiped down between classes, groups of students will be spread out and walking in the same direction, and students will use lockers in small groups that are not in close proximity. If we see that the safety of anyone is at risk, we will make changes.

"May the God of hope fill you with all joy and peace in believing, so that by the power of the Holy Spirit you may abound in hope." Romans 15:13

Holy God, I pray that I humble myself right now. Although You have enabled me to think logically, practically and intellectually, You know all things. Just as I do not know the path of the wind, or how the body is formed in a mother's womb, I cannot understand the works of You – the Maker of all things – with my own knowledge. Your works require revelation and divine understanding, so help me in this area of my life and grant me patience and understanding. In Jesus' Name, Amen..

A MESSAGE FROM NURSE GERI

Don't let Halloween haunt you this year; use these trick-or-treating safety tips to prevent coronavirus spread
(Excerpts from the WAFB interview with Baton Rouge pediatrician Dr. Melissa Holland)

I read a lot and I enjoy sharing the practical wisdom of others. I mentioned at the beginning of my "Happy Fall Ya'll" series of articles that I was tired of Covid. I'm sure you are too. I keep looking for ways to enjoy Halloween in the age of Covid. Here is some practical advice from a local pediatrician in an article from WAFB.

Halloween's not canceled," said Our Lady of the Lake pediatrician, Dr. Melissa Holland. She says don't forget your basic coronavirus preventive measures even on the trick-or-treating trails.

1. "The State of Louisiana is still under a mask mandate," said the physician. "So yes, children and the adults who accompany them need to be wearing a mask."
2. Costume masks are not enough to prevent the spread of the virus though. You need to wear your CDC recommended face masks.
3. You should do the same if you plan to pass out candy on your doorstep and you may want to rethink how you hand out the goods as well."You may consider doing prepackaged bags and then having them laid out for kids, or you can use tongs and also give them the bags that way," said Dr. Holland.
4. Now, the trick is to keep your kids from eating treats on the walk. Dr. Holland recommends you wait until you get home to wipe down the candy packages before your kids dive into their stash. "Make sure kids are eating a good hearty dinner before they go on the trail, so they are full," she said.
5. Don't linger too long at the candy bowls.
6. Remember to keep a safe social distance.
7. "Refrain from clustering on doorsteps on your trail and also, use hand sanitizer in between houses," the doctor said.
8. If trick-or-treating isn't an option for your family this year, Dr. Holland says get creative and invite over a few friends in costume for outdoor activities. "You could do a spooky scavenger hunt in your own yard and house with treats," she said.
