PRINCIPAL'S POST

By: Michael Miller

Greetings to All!

Wow and suddenly it is March!

I hope you were able to see our guest speaker today. She had an important story to tell our students. Marion Blumenthal Lazan is a World War II Holocaust survivor who shared her story of survival, hope, and tolerance with our 5th-8th grade students.

A couple reminders for all; school Mass this week will be celebrated on Thursday of this week and the 3rd quarter ends this Friday.

I want to thank all those who attended the 1929 Society dinner last Thursday. It was a great event. Mother Rosario, Wendy Daniels, and Father Josh all inspired those who were in attendance. Thank you also to Sharon Jones, Akeisha Williams, Wendy Milam, Jenny Morales, and Maggie Calandro for their work to make the event so successful.

I would like to extend our sincerest congratulations to first grade teacher Caroline Bertrand and her husband Alex for the arrival of their first baby girl. Charlotte Alysse Bertrand was born yesterday at 4:57 p.m. weighing 8 lbs 2 oz and was 21 inches long. Mom and baby are both doing well.

Finally I want to thank all who support the Sacred Heart of Jesus Church and School! Your faith fuels us!

YEARBOOK SALES HAVE BEGUN If you would like to purchase a yearbook for the 2023-24 school year, please click here. The yearbooks will be delivered in the fall. Questions? Email Wendy Milam (WMilam@SacredHeartBR.com).

CHILDREN'S MASS This month's Children's Mass will be Sunday, March 10th at the 11:00 a.m. Mass. If your 2nd-8th grade student is interested in participating by being a reader or bringing up the gifts, please contact Candice Brooks (CBrooks@Sacredheartbr.com). As always, any interested 4-8 grade students are invited to join the Adult Choir in the Choir Loft to sing! Parents/family are welcome to sit in the loft. Communion is brought upstairs.

ST. JOSEPH'S ALTAR On Wednesday, March 20th, Sacred Heart of Jesus School will celebrate St. Joseph's feast day with a St. Joseph Altar on the gym stage. For a history of the altar, click here. The blessing of the altar will take place after assembly on Wednesday at 9:00 am. This Altar is a schoolwide project and each class will be participating in various ways. Below you will find the food contribution list. All items below, should be brought to school on March 20th. Most classes work on a project that will also be displayed on the Altar. On St. Joseph's Feast Day, people typically wear red so students may wear a red shirt and accessories for our celebration. The blessing will start at 9 am, then Beta will deliver the goods to the St. Vincent de Paul food pantry. In order to have a variety of donations, we are asking for the following food donations by class:

PreK - Macaroni and cheese	Kindergarten - Canned beans	1st Grade - Canned soup	2nd Grade - Canned potatoes
3rd Grade - Canned meat	4th Grade - Canned pasta sauce	5th Grade - Canned vegetables	6th Grade - Canned fruit
7th Grade - Pasta	8th Grade - Rice	Staff - Fresh fruits and vegetables

HELP FOR ST. LUKE'S EPISCOPAL CHURCH St. Luke's Episcopal Church was considered a total loss after a fire on February 17. Our student council and Jr. Beta Club would like to raise money to support their church community as they rebuild. They would like each student to bring a minimum of $10 to help cover the cost of church supplies such as vestments, pews, kneelers, etc. Or, if possible, a donation of $25, which will be used to purchase a hymnal that can be used right away as they are currently having Mass in the school gym. Classes with 100% participation will receive free dress, and the class with the highest amount collected will be awarded a class celebration. The deadline to donate is March 15.

SAVE THE DATE FOR OUR TIGER AUCTION April 13 at 6 pm we will have our annual school auction. Click here to visit the auction website to find valuable information regarding sponsorships, ticket information, and paddle calls.

KIDS ORCHESTRA SUMMER CAMP Kids' Orchestra summer camp is quickly approaching! For the entire month of June, they will have four different weeks of camp themes surrounding music from 8am-5pm, Monday-Friday. Some of the themes are Music and Movement, The Science of Music, Books and Music, and Technology of Music. No musical experience is needed! Breakfast, lunch, and a snack will be provided. Click here to register. See flyer on page 8 for more information.

COUNSELING CORNER The Louisiana Department of Education recently received a Trauma Recovery Demonstration Grant that benefits all grade levels and schools. If you feel your child is struggling emotionally or academically and has been exposed to trauma, he or she may benefit from this program. The deadline to submit students for trauma testing is on April 30, 2024. Please contact us for more information if interested. Food pantry collections are made each Friday during our school liturgy. Students, faculty, and staff donate non-perishable food items and are a major source of donations. While all donations are accepted, the pantry is in particular need of rice, beans, peanut butter, canned fruit and canned meat. Thank you so much for your support!

Congrats to the 6th/7th grade volleyball team on their first game and first win of the season!

Wrapping up an undefeated season, Cooper Volland, Mason Olinde, and Jordan McGee played in an all-star middle school basketball game last weekend. The game showed some of the best middle school talent and the home team (with two of our tigers) won with a score of 107-106! ## FDA Removes Harmful Chemicals from Food Packaging (Excerpts from Medscape Medical News)

I read a lot of medical journals, and this article is worth a read. My children's pediatrician said, "Never consume a packaged food with more than 5 ingredients." How many times do we think about what the container is made out of? I would say to myself "hardly ever."

Wishing you a healthy week ahead,

Nurse Geri

The US Food and Drug Administration (FDA) announced the removal of the endocrine-disrupting chemicals (EDCs) per and polyfluoroalkyl substances (PFAS) from food packaging.

Issued on February 28, 2024, "this means the major source of dietary exposure to PFAS from food packaging like fast-food wrappers, microwave popcorn bags, take-out paperboard containers, and pet food bags is being eliminated," the FDA said in a statement.

In 2020, the FDA had secured commitments from manufacturers to stop selling products containing PFAS used in the food packaging for grease-proofing. "Today's announcement marks the fulfillment of these voluntary commitments," according to the agency.

PFAS, a class of thousands of chemicals also called "forever chemicals" are widely used in consumer and industrial products. People may be exposed via contaminated food packaging (although perhaps no longer in the United States) or occupationally. Studies have found that some PFAS disrupt hormones including estrogen and testosterone, whereas others may impair thyroid function.

Endocrine Society Report Sounds the Alarm About PFAS and Others

The FDA's announcement came just 2 days after the Endocrine Society issued a new alarm about the human health dangers from environmental EDCs including PFAS in a report covering the latest science.

"Endocrine disrupting chemicals" are individual substances or mixtures that can interfere with natural hormonal function, leading to disease or even death. Many are ubiquitous in the modern environment and contribute to a wide range of human diseases.

The new report Endocrine Disrupting Chemicals: Threats to Human Health was issued jointly with the International Pollutants Elimination Network (IPEN), a global advocacy organization. It's an update to the Endocrine Society's 2015 report, providing new data on the endocrine-disrupting substances previously covered and adding four EDCs not discussed in that document: Pesticides, plastics, PFAS, and children's products containing arsenic.

At a briefing held during the United Nations Environment Assembly meeting in Nairobi, Kenya, last week, the new report's lead author Andrea C. Gore, PhD, of the University of Texas at Austin, noted, "A well-established body of scientific research indicates that endocrine-disrupting chemicals that are part of our daily lives are making us more susceptible to reproductive disorders, cancer, diabetes, obesity, heart disease, and other serious health conditions."

Added Gore, who is also a member of the Endocrine Society's Board of Directors, "These chemicals pose particularly serious risks to pregnant women and children. Now is the time for the UN Environment Assembly and other global policymakers to take action to address this threat to public health."

While the science has been emerging rapidly, global and national chemical control policies haven't kept up, the authors said. Of particular concern is that EDCs behave differently from other chemicals in many ways, including that even very low dose exposures can pose health threats, but policies thus far haven't dealt with that aspect. Moreover, "the effects of low doses cannot be predicted by the effects observed at high doses. This means there may be no safe dose for exposure to EDCs," according to the report.

Exposure can come from household products, including furniture, toys, and food packages, as well as electronics, building materials and cosmetics. These chemicals are also in the outdoor environment, via pesticides, air pollution, and industrial waste.

"IPEN and the Endocrine Society call for chemical regulations based on the most modern scientific understanding of how hormones act and how EDCs can perturb these actions. We work to educate policy makers in global, regional, and national government assemblies and help ensure that regulations correlate with current scientific understanding," they said in the report.

New Data on Four Classes of EDCs

Chapters of the report summarized the latest information about the science of EDCs and their links to endocrine disease and real-world exposure. It included a special section about "EDCs throughout the plastics life cycle" and a summary of the links between EDCs and climate change.

The report reviewed three pesticides, including the world's most heavily applied herbicide, glyphosphate. Exposures can occur directly from the air, water, dust, and food residues. Recent data linked glyphosphate to adverse reproductive health outcomes.

Two toxic plastic chemicals, phthalates and bisphenols, are present in personal care products, among others. Emerging evidence links them with impaired neurodevelopment, leading to impaired cognitive function, learning, attention, and impulsivity.

Arsenic has long been linked to human health conditions including cancer, but more recent evidence finds it can disrupt multiple endocrine systems and lead to metabolic conditions including diabetes, reproductive dysfunction, and cardiovascular and neurocognitive conditions.

The special section about plastics noted that they are made from fossil fuels and chemicals, including many toxic substances that are known or suspected EDCs. People who live near plastic production facilities or waste dumps may be at greatest risk, but anyone can be exposed using any plastic product. Plastic waste disposal is increasingly problematic and often foisted on lower- and middle-income countries.

'Additional Education and Awareness-Raising Among Stakeholders Remain Necessary'

Policies aimed at reducing human health risks from EDCs have included the 2022 Plastics Treaty, a resolution adopted by 175 countries at the United Nations Environmental Assembly that "may be a significant step toward global control of plastics and elimination of threats from exposures to EDCs in plastics," the report said.

The authors added, "While significant progress has been made in recent years connecting scientific advances on EDCs with health-protective policies, additional education and awareness-raising among stakeholders remain necessary to achieve a safer and more sustainable environment that minimizes exposure to these harmful chemicals."
