

During your summer vacation, you are required to read two books of your choosing. These must be books that you have not previously read, and should be above your reading level (challenge yourself!). Upon returning to school in August, you should be able to discuss and write about the books you have read. You will be given an assignment at the beginning of the year that pertains to your summer reading.

I am looking forward to teaching all of you next year!

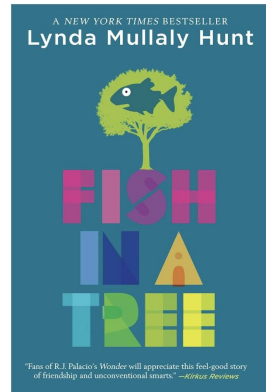

Have a great summer!!
